

Carlos A. Trejo, CFRE

Carlos A. Trejo is a strategic fundraising professional and racial equity advocate based in Chicago. He serves as Director of Individual Giving at the Latino Policy Forum, where he is building a comprehensive program to engage supporters and drive sustainable resources for advancing equity, justice, and economic opportunity for Latine communities. Carlos holds a CFRE credential and brings extensive experience in community-centered nonprofit work, combining a mission-driven mindset with a focus on long-term impact. Known for his collaborative leadership and systems thinking, he excels at creating strategies that strengthen organizational capacity and deepen donor relationships. Outside of his work at the Forum, Carlos continues to champion diversity and inclusion in the fundraising field and enjoys exploring new places, hiking, and connecting with communities that inspire his work toward transformative social change.
