

Daniel J. Facchini, CFRE

Dan is a Certified Fund Raising Executive with more than twenty years of nonprofit leadership and fundraising expertise. He has advanced the missions for both grass-roots and large-scale organizations in the greater Chicago area that address poverty, homelessness, food instability, aging, developmental disabilities, street violence and youth development. As the incoming managing director of Innovation DuPage, he has led the organization's strategic plan and is focused on institutional growth.

In his spare time, Dan is a published author, has written and produced sketch comedy through The Second City Training Center, and volunteers extensively, including co-chairing the Philanthropy Awards for AFP Chicago. He holds Bachelors degrees in Economics and English from Northern Illinois University, and has a Masters degree in Public Service Management from DePaul University. Dan lives in Chicago with his wife and their three children.
