

Ashli Owens is the Associate Director of Foundation and Corporate Relations at the University of Chicago within the Medicine and Biological Sciences Development office. She partners closely with institution leaders and faculty to advance research and programs across disease areas, with an emphasis on health equity on Chicago's South Side. Prior to the University of Chicago, Ashli worked for Spark in Chicago, a career exploration and self-discovery program that helps middle school students understand, experience, and pursue what's possible. At Spark, Ashli oversaw the local fundraising strategy with a focus on institutional support, annual appeals, event execution, and managed the local Advisory Board.

Ashli has been a member of AFP since 2016. She is a past participant of the AFP Chicago Fellows and Peer Mentoring programs, was awarded the 2017 Chamberlain Scholarship, and is a member of the Philanthropy Committee.

She received her master's degree in social work and bachelor's degree in psychology from the University of Michigan.
