

Marisa Schostok is an associate attorney at the law firm of Dudley & Lake, LLC, and has been practicing since 2013. Prior to joining Dudley and Lake, she prosecuted criminal cases at the Lake County State's Attorney's Office. While there, Ms. Schostok represented victims of crimes in the traffic and misdemeanor divisions.

Ms. Schostok graduated college from the University of Dayton in 2010, and graduated from the John Marshall Law School in Chicago in 2013. Ms. Schostok is an active member of various professional organizations, including the Lake County Bar Association, Illinois Trial Lawyers Association, Women's Bar Association of Illinois, Illinois State Bar Association, and the American Association for Justice. In addition, Ms. Schostok serves on several committees within these organizations.

In addition to her legal career, Ms. Schostok devotes her time to the brain cancer community through her participation in The Michael Matters Foundation, which was founded in honor of her late father, Michael Schostok, in 2013. Ms. Schostok currently serves as the president of the foundation, which provides financial assistance to patients and their families to help manage the incidental costs associated with the treatment of brain cancer. Ms. Schostok believes that every cancer patient has the right to fight their disease with dignity and without financial worries.

Ms. Schostok lives in Libertyville with her husband, Brett Buckley. They are expecting their first child in July.
