

Kevin Cherep, Chief of Global Development at Lions Clubs International

Kevin Cherep serves as Chief of Global Development leading the integration of the Global Development Group while creating and increasing opportunities and innovation for the future direction of Lions Clubs International. Kevin has over fourteen years of non-profit executive management, development and marketing experience serving a variety of nonprofits, including Soles4Souls where as Chief Development/Marketing Officer, he was responsible for creating the organization's first global development team, generating over $25 million in organizational revenue, managing key partner relationships and overseeing all aspects of marketing, public relations and communications. In addition, Kevin has provided executive consultative services as Vice President for CCS Fundraising to many organizations including Case Western Reserve School of Law, National Audubon Society, The American Red Cross of Greater Chicago and Feeding America.